Before the closure of the crossing, which occurred in the middle of each month, for various reasons, on average, 1,000 people crossed monthly.

According to local authorities in Gaza, at least 900,000 people crossed daily.

The monthly average number of times people crossed the crossing point since its opening has decreased by 28% compared to the corresponding period in the previous year.

Since the closure of the crossing at the beginning of the year 2017, there have been changes in the daily average of the number of people crossing.

The number of items transported through the crossing point has been significantly reduced since the closure of the crossing.

The number of items transported through the crossing point has been significantly reduced since the closure of the crossing.

The number of items transported through the crossing point has been significantly reduced since the closure of the crossing.

The number of items transported through the crossing point has been significantly reduced since the closure of the crossing.

The number of items transported through the crossing point has been significantly reduced since the closure of the crossing.

The number of items transported through the crossing point has been significantly reduced since the closure of the crossing.

The number of items transported through the crossing point has been significantly reduced since the closure of the crossing.

The number of items transported through the crossing point has been significantly reduced since the closure of the crossing.

The number of items transported through the crossing point has been significantly reduced since the closure of the crossing.

The number of items transported through the crossing point has been significantly reduced since the closure of the crossing.

The number of items transported through the crossing point has been significantly reduced since the closure of the crossing.

The number of items transported through the crossing point has been significantly reduced since the closure of the crossing.
The document contains graphs and tables showing statistical data and trends related to trade, including进口 and exports, with figures and percentages for various years. The tables include data on trade volumes, with some highlighting a 25% increase in imports from a specific source. The graphs illustrate trends over time, with bars and lines indicating changes in trade volumes and other indicators. The document also includes text in both Hebrew and English, discussing specific trade-related issues and trends.