

Humanitarian Needs Overview 2021 - oPt

DASHBOARD

The context in the occupied Palestinian territory (oPt) remains a protracted protection crisis, where too many Palestinians struggle to live with dignity. The crisis is characterized by more than 53 years of Israeli military occupation, lack of respect for international humanitarian and human rights law, internal Palestinian political divisions, and recurrent escalations of hostilities between Israel and Palestinian armed groups.

Palestinians in the oPt face a range of protection threats, including to life, liberty and security, destruction or damage to homes and other property, forced displacement, restrictions on freedom of movement and on access to natural resources and livelihoods, and lack of accountability and effective remedy. Many also suffer from access to essential services, and erosion of resilience and coping mechanisms. These factors impact differently on people, depending on their gender, age, location and resources. 2020 witnessed a significant increase in the severity of humanitarian needs across the oPt, due to the COVID-19 outbreak and the unilateral measures taken by the Palestinian Authority in response to Israel's plans to annex parts of the West Bank.

In 2021, the Humanitarian Country Team (HCT) estimates that approximately 2.45 million Palestinians across the oPt will require some form of humanitarian assistance. Although this is only slightly more than the estimate for 2020 (2.41 million), the number of people suffering from severe, as opposed to moderate, need has increased by 346,000.
